Tribute to Crawford from the Century Club-it a general meeting of the Century Association, held at their tooms, No. 42 East 15th st., in the City of New York, Nov. 7, 827, GULIAN C. VERPLANCK, President, in the chair, Mr. tossiter rose and communicated the intelligence of the death of MILLIAMS, ENGLY WINDS.

Resolved, That while we kament his death, thus occurring in the prime of life, and before his great powers had been cally developed, yet we are proud that they had been exhibited in works of beauty and genius, which have thrown a glory around his own name, and reflected honor upon that of his country.

Resolved, That feeling it to be the stuty of this Assection to take something more than a passing notice of this most lious, it is ordered that a member of the Century be appointed to deliver a culony upon the life and merits, personal and professional, of this excellent artist and man.

Resolved, That such address be delivered at a special meeting of the Century, to be held for that purpose on due notice.

Resolved, That the Secretary transmit a copy of these resolutions to the family of the deceased, and express to them our deep sympathy with their betravement.

Resolved, That the Secretary also cause these resolutions to be printed in the public journais of this city.

SMITH'S DICTIONARY OF GEOGRAPHY.

SMITH'S DICTIONARY OF GEOGRAPHY.

A DICTIONARY OF GREEK AND ROMAN GEOGRAPHY; Intruded as Companion Work to the "Dictionaries of Greek and Roman Antiquities" and of "Greek and Roman Mythology" By Dr. William Smittel Histories by numerous Engravings on wood. I vois, 870., cloth. $10: half call, $11.

The Dictionary of Greek and Roman Geography" forms a companion volume to "The Dictionary of Antiquities" and "The Dictionary of Mythology." Although, for he sake of uniformity, it is called "A Dictionary of Greek and Koman Geography," It is, in reality, a Dictionary of Ancient Common Geography," It is, in reality, a Dictionary of Ancient Geography, not even excluding Scriptural names. The unstartials for such a work are very extentive, and have been for sony years accumulating. It has been the aim of the Editor to present, in a form scapted to the use of students, the researches of modern scholars and the discoveries of modern travelers in this important branch of classical antiquity. The work is, of course, not confined to a barren description of the reggaphy of countries and of the sites of places; but it also includes an account of the political history both of countries and office.

Woodcuts. Price $1.75.
1s Now Ready.

From The New-York Times,

From The New-York Times,

"Burr was greatly in need of an honest and painstaking biographer. No American has ever been more written about, and yet there has never been a satisfactory biography of Aaron Burr. Abundance of excellent material existed for the formation of such a work, but the subject access to have been a repulsive one to American authors. Mr Parton, happily, has taken it up in the spirit of a student, first to make himself matter of the subject, and then to present it to his reader entirely free from the distortions of prejudice or over seal. He as a cold-blooded dissector, but a realous lover of facts. What he aims at is to give a perfect view of the man whose history he has undertaken to write.

"We have his exact dimensions, the color of his complexion, the fashion of his dress the peculiarities of his goin, the manner in which he taked the style in which he wrote, how he made love, how he treated his friends and dealt with his enemies, where he traveled, with whom he associated, the deeds he performed and the aims he attempted, the offices he filled and have he filled them, how he lived and how he died; and, by the help of these elements, every one must form his own image of the strange, mysterious being. Aaron Burr.

"We can do no more in this brief allusion to the book than to express our conviction that Mr. Parton has performed a most important and acceptable labor to fornishing the public with his comprehensive yetcompact history of one of the most noted men our country has produced."

HUSBAND VS. WIFE:

A DOMESTIC SATIRE.

Which has been pronounced by several of our leading literary men to be the most striking and original poem which has over been published in this country. It is written by one of our most brilliant humorous writers, and spiendidly illustrated with fourteen exquisite designs, from the penal of Hoppin, (illustrator of "Nothing to West")

The PROLOGUE and EPILOGUE of the poem—each a masterpiece in its way—are aione sufficient to give the work a world wide celebrity.

As a work of art, "Hasband vs. Wife" is by far the most elemant little book of the kind ever published this side of the Atlantic. Being ingeniously and beautifully printed in various colors, upon extra cream-olored plate paper, in the old fashioned ILLUMISATED Missal style, and professly embellished with Hoppin's most charming designs, the book cannot fall of having an enviable popularity.

"Can I do anything for you, Mr. Curtis!" a the Almoni, noticing his embarrasament
"Why, you see, Squire," said Bill, with a mighty effort,
"my business here is rather unpleasant. I don't like it myself, and you'll like it a denned sight less I'm a thinkin."
"Why, what can you mean, Mr. Curtis!" asked Almoni, with earnestness
"Why, you see, Sir, the folks about yer don't sert o' like you, 'came you won't mix in with 'em, and always keep to yourself. They think there's suthin but about you said—" Louis Almoni's brow darkened, and his eye kindled, ar rising from his chair he nervously drew his daughter to his side.
"Go on, Bir," he said, with white lips, and a calm, deepvoice.

Louis Almoni's brow dark-ned, and he eye almone, a reason from his chair he nervously draw he daughter to his side.

"Go en, Bir," he said, with white lips, and a calm, deep voice.

"Well, in brief, the Regulators don't like you, and have sent me here to tell you to leave."

"The Regulators!" exclaimed Leoni, torning deathly pale and clinging to her sather.

"And pray what harm have I done to the Regulators, or to any one class!" eaked Almoni, in an agitated voice.

"That' just what I argued before the Council, but they said you should go, and go you must within forty-eight hours, or loss your life," said Curfa, in a positive tone.

"And an I thus to be hunted by these raffiens, like a deg, and make the widerness the home of myself and chief! I thought that I had accaped the malice of man when I built this humble alode, but, just Heaven' what diffe cure is on me, that I am thus doomed to the eternal hatred of my kind!"

He pressed his daughter close to him, but me broke from his grasping, and, failurg on her knees before Curfus, she lifted her with, tearful face to hiv, and excalamed,

"On, Sir, for heaven's ease, permit us to remain; we harm no one, and here we could be nappy."

"Rise, Leoni!" eried the father, in a tone of authority. "If you are a laughter of musn, you will never knees to mortal man to plend for the privilege of living free!" And, taking her by the arm, he drew her away and clasped her to his become. The tears had and done, and will ease in a submit of the privilege of living free!" And, taking her by the arm, he drew her away and clasped her to his become. The tears had and done, it will ead in Almoni's eyes, and where, a moment before, was a look of intense anguish, now ast only brooding soon and hate.

"Who is the captain of your gaug!" he asked, addressing Curris in a tone of oscilance.

"Bichard Carter," each Sill, somewhat confused.

"But where ""
That matters not. Will you stay !"
"Yea."
"Then put this pistol under your pillo "Yea."
Then put this pistol under your pillow, in case of danger.
I will not be gone long."
She took the weapon and piaced it under her head, walle Almont rose, and, putting a similar one in the breast of his cost, started for the cor.
"Will you not tell me where you are gold;" Leoni again

The above, which is the first chapter of the new story written expressly for the columns of THE NEW-YOLK DAILY SUN, by a Western Member of Congress, will give our readers some idea of the intensely interesting sature of the tale. Although we shall publish no more of it, the continuation from where it breaks off in our columns will be found in THE NEW-YORK SUN of Memoday morning, accompanied with a NEW-YORK SUN of Memoday morning, accompanied with a large, superior engraving (by Bobbett) of "Almoni, the Sconney of Miscouri," From what we have heard of too tale, we pidea t will create a sensetion.
